

Introduction to Renewable Energy Renewable energy comes from sources that naturally replenish, such as sunlight, wind, and water flow. It is a sustainable alternative to fossil fuels that helps reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Common types include solar power, wind turbines, and hydroelectric energy.